Living in halls

Living in halls is an exciting time for many students. It is often the first time living away from home.

The rooms are usually quite small. The windows are also small so it can be quite dark inside. For some students it is often too hot, because the heating is controlled by the university and not the individual student. The beds are comfortable, but it is not five-star luxury.

Living with lots of other students can also be very noisy.

So why are these dark, uncomfortable and noisy rooms popular? They could rent a house with friends or get a private bedsit or flat, but many students love halls. Why? You meet some of the best friends you make in your life. It is such an exciting time that students quickly forget the halls and just have fun meeting others from around the world!

ADVERBS OF FREQUENCY

1 Put the adverbs of frequency in order.

often sometimes usually never always

2 Put the adverbs of frequency in brackets in the correct position in the sentences.

- We have to work in teams at university. (often)
- I give presentations. (sometimes)
- The lecturers give us a test at the end of the year. (usually)
- We have a multiple choice test. It is essays. (never, always)

3 Complete the sentences with the adverb described in brackets.

- I _____ make mistakes in English. (quite a lot, but not all the time)
- I _____ miss my Monday morning nine o'clock class. (every week)
- We _____ have to work in groups. (not very often)
- My tutor _____ gives us homework. (nearly every class)
- I _____ arrive late for class. (not one time)

3 Complete the sentences with the name of a person you know.

- _____ is very hardworking. He studies a lot.
- My friend, _____, is the most talkative person I know.
- My classmate, _____, is quite shy.
- The most confident person I know is _____.
- _____ is lazy. He doesn't do any work.
- _____ is very quiet.

READING

1 Read the text quickly and choose the correct answers.

- 1 ... think group work is a good idea.
a Lecturers
b Students
- 2 Group work can be difficult because ...
a people work in different ways.
b some people are always wrong.
- 3 Group work is best when ... a everyone can do what they want.
b everything is planned and organised well.

2 Replace the definitions in the sentences with the words in bold from the text.

- 1 She always tries to control the group.
- 2 The meetings are difficult, but it helps me to improve my English.
- 3 His job in the group is to research the topic.
- 4 We tell each other opinions on a topic in our meetings.
- 5 We need a list of all the things we have to do.

Students often have to work in groups at university. This is because many lecturers think there are advantages to group work. You can share your ideas and find solutions to problems. You can develop your communication skills. You can also learn about different cultures and improve your English.

However, there are problems with working in a group. Sometimes a very confident or talkative person can dominate the group. Some group members never speak – they just sit in silence. Sometimes people only want to talk and not listen. This might be because they think they are right and they think everyone else is wrong.

Students can avoid these kinds of problems by making rules. For example, agree an agenda for the meeting and how often the group will meet. Always agree the deadlines for the work. Usually it is helpful for everyone to have a role. For example, one person takes notes, another does research, and another produces the PowerPoint slides.

Doing group work at university is an important experience that you also need for your future.

- 3 Who lives in Italy? _____
- 4 Who works with homeless people? _____
- 5 Who speaks at least three languages? _____
- 6 Who leads a group every week? _____

Hi

I'm interested in taking part in the Volunteer in Costa Rica programme. I'm a student at the University of Melbourne in Australia. My degree is in Business and Management and I'm in my second year. I want to get more experience of working in teams. In my degree I often work in teams to give presentations and sometimes lead the group. I also volunteer at a school in Melbourne. I can speak Italian, Greek and English and I help students from these countries when their English isn't very good. I'm very hardworking and hope I can take part in the volunteer programme.

Best wishes

Anastasia

Hi

I'm writing to you about the Volunteer in Costa Rica programme. I'm a student at the University of Milan in Italy. My degree is in Chemistry and I'm in my final year.

I also work as a volunteer for a charity in Milan. I lead a team of volunteers who help homeless people. This is my third year working for the charity and my first year leading a group. Four nights a week our team drives to different parts of Milan to give food and clothes to homeless people.

I can speak Italian and English. Speaking English helps me to communicate because some homeless people can't speak Italian.

I love helping people and I hope you can use my skills in Costa Rica.

Kind Regards

Giuseppe

WRITING

DESCRIBING A GOOD LEADER

- 1 Read the text and answer the questions.
 - 1 Do good leaders understand everything about their job?
 - 2 Do good leaders talk a lot? Why/ Why not?
 - 3 What three skills do good leaders need?

Good leaders in the workplace are confident and they are good at their job. They have a lot of work experience and they understand everything about their job too. Employees then have confidence in the leader and trust them. Good leaders also have good communication skills. This doesn't mean talking a lot – it means listening to employees. A leader makes decisions all the time and it is important that the decisions are good.

READING STRATEGY 1

In the Reading test, you read different types of texts and answer different types of questions. You can read the questions first or you can read the text first. Choose the technique that helps you.

1 Read the text first and then answer the questions below.

- A The University of Bologna in Italy is a popular place to study. Over 100 000 students study there today. No one knows when it first opened, but most people believe it was probably in 1088.
- B The university was started when groups of French, English and other foreign students decided to form a university. So the University of Bologna was also probably the first international university in the world.
- C Today the University of Bologna is one of the best 200 universities in the world. It has centres in five Italian cities and a centre in Buenos Aires, the capital city of Argentina.
- 1 ... when the university opened.
a Everyone knows b No one knows
- 2 ... students started the university.
a Italian b International
- 3 The university has centres in ... a two countries
b only Italy

2 Now read the questions first and then read the text below to answer the questions.

- 1 A university ... the only place you can get a degree.
a is b isn't
- 2 They are offering a degree in ... a Food Science b Managing Business
- A There are over 12 000 universities around the world offering degrees, but a university is not the only place you can get a degree. The fast-food giant McDonald's has also started to offer degree courses.
- B In the UK, McDonalds is now offering a two-year foundation degree in Managing Business. The company pays the tuition fees. In its first year, there were 53 employees on the degree course.
- C Not all McDonalds employees can do the degree – they have to get a job as a manager first. However, as degree courses are very expensive, school leavers may prefer a job and a degree with McDonalds.

3 Which technique did you think was easier: reading the text first or reading the questions first? Tick the comments below you agree with.

I prefer to read the text quickly first just to understand the topic.

I think it's better to read the questions first. Then you can find the information quicker.

Reading the text first helps me feel confident about answering the questions.

I like reading the questions first. They are in the same order as the text, so the questions help me understand the text as I read.

4 In activity 1, the answers are in the text in the order below:

question 1 = paragraph a question 2 = paragraph b question 3 = paragraph c

Read the text in activity 2 again. Do the questions and answers follow the order of the text?

Exam Tip

Complete the tips using the words in the box.

questions order text technique

- 1 Practise reading the questions first and then reading the text first. Decide which _____ is best for you.
- 2 Reading the _____ first can help you find answers quickly.
- 3 Reading the _____ first can help you understand the general meaning.
- 4 Remember that the questions often follow the _____ of the text.

1 Is the number of British students studying overseas decreasing?

2 What percentage of British students study overseas?

3 Which country is the most popular for British students?

4 What is the Erasmus programme?

5 How many students take part in the Erasmus programme?

British Students

ABROAD*

A People often think of international students as students from around the world studying in countries such as the UK, the USA or Australia. However, there are also a growing number of British students going to study overseas.

*Abroad: in or to a foreign country.
My cousin is living abroad. Do you want to study abroad?

2 Read the text again and answer these questions.

- 1 What do most people think about international students?
- 2 Do more Chinese, British or Indian students study abroad?
- 3 How many British students are there in France?
- 4 Where does the Erasmus programme happen?

- B Surprisingly, as a percentage, more British students are travelling abroad than students from other countries. 1.7 per cent of the entire British student population is studying abroad. This percentage is higher than China at 1.4 per cent and India at 1 per cent of their student population.
- C There are over 22 000 British students studying in different parts of the world. The three most popular countries for British students are the USA (8 500), France (2 600) and Germany (2 200).
- D One popular study abroad programme for British students is the Erasmus programme that allows European students to spend a year in another European country. The number of British students taking part in the programme is increasing every year. Now over 10 000 take part annually in the programme. Perhaps British students are becoming more global.

IMPROVING YOUR VOCABULARY 1

Good language learners keep a vocabulary notebook. It's impossible to learn all the new words you see, so you need to decide which words you want to learn. You also need to have good techniques to learn them.

1 Answer the questions. Write your answers in your vocabulary notebook.

- 1 Write three reasons why you decide to learn a new word.
I'm interested in sport so when I see words about sport I like to write them down.
- 2 Write four things you can do when you see or hear a word you don't understand.

- 3 Write three techniques you use to revise vocabulary.

- 4 Write five things that are important to learn about new words.

2 Read the extract from a vocabulary notebook. Are the ideas similar to your answers in activity 1 number 4 above?

Word formation	Example sentence	Translation	Pronunciation	*Collocation
globalise (v) globalisation (n) global (adj) globally (adv)	British students are becoming more global.	عالمي	/'glɔ:bal/	global problem

*Collocation: words that often go together.

- 3 Read the text on pages 32–33 again. Underline any new words or phrases. Do you think these words and phrases are important to learn? Why? Why not?
- 4 Choose four important words or phrases from activity 3 and add them to the table in activity 2. Complete the information about each new word and phrase.

My goals

- 1 Buy a vocabulary notebook or create a new document on your computer. Make a table similar to the one in activity 2 and add all new vocabulary to it for the next two weeks.
- 2 Read your notes again after two weeks and check how many new words you know. You can also compare notes with a classmate and test each other.

B: Internet shoppers by year

- 1 What information does chart A show?
- 2 What do the colours represent in chart A?

- 3 Which axis shows the percentage of internet shoppers in chart B?
- 4 How many years are in chart B?

3 Match the descriptions with a chart in activity 2.

- 1 Not many people shopped on the internet in 1995. The number is increasing every year. Between 2000 and 2005 the number is going up. From 2005 to 2010 the number is growing quickly.
- 2 The chart shows the number of shoppers on the internet by age group. More people aged 18-24 use the internet than the 65+ group. The number is the same in the 25-34 group and the 35-44 group.

The Olympics and Barcelona

- A The Olympics are a major international sports event. It happens every two years in the summer and then in the winter.
- B Many countries want to host the Olympics, but it is a very difficult event to organise. Countries have to *construct new buildings and make old buildings more modern. However, it can give an old city a new life and improve the city. It can also make a lot of money. Atlanta, Georgia, in the USA, made $300 million from the 2004 Olympics.
- C The Spanish city of Barcelona is more than 2000 years old. It has many fantastic old buildings and is famous for the architect, Gaudi. His unusual stone and brick buildings are all across the city. Since the 1992 Olympics, you can also see many modern buildings in the city.
- D The Olympic port was an ugly, old area of Barcelona. There wasn't a nice beach in the city, but now there is a wonderful man-made beach. Before the Olympics, there were many huge, ugly concrete and glass hotels. Construction workers made the old hotels more modern. Today Barcelona is the twelfth most visited city in the world!

*construct = build

- A Sandwiches are a popular food in many cultures around the world. The word 'sandwich' comes from the Earl of Sandwich. He liked eating cold meat between two slices of bread, because he could continue working while he ate, but what is a sandwich degree?
- B In 1998, in England, a government report stated that students benefited from more work experience. Companies also felt that students with experience were often better. Many universities started offering a degree with two years of study, one year in a company on work experience, and one final year studying. The work experience was the meat and the degree was the bread.
- C These degrees became popular. Education changed a lot in the UK from the 1990s. In 1950, only 20 000 people went to university. In 1993, the numbers increased to about 100 000, and by 2010 over 300 000 people left with a degree. So work experience made you different.
- D Many companies think that work experience is important. It makes students communicate better and work well in teams. Many students get jobs with the same company they did their work experience in.

There are lots of different ways you can improve your time management and manage your independent study. Here are my top five tips:

- 1 Find out where you are *wasting time – do you spend too much time surfing the net, reading emails or watching TV?
- 2 *Set priorities – write a list of everything you have to do and then put them in order of importance.
- 3 Start a routine – make a daily or weekly routine to organise your day or week.
- 4 Write a schedule for the week including all important events, e.g. seminars and deadlines.
- 5 Think about when you work best – is it easy to work in the morning or the evening? Do the difficult studying at your best time of the day.

Good luck! These tips worked for me.
You can post your own tips below.

*waste time = to use time badly

*to set priorities = to decide on the order you do will things

- To _____ is to put your hand or body on something.
- _____ means on the other side from someone or something.
- A _____ activity is something many people like.
- To _____ is when a company pays to advertise their product at an event.

soccer tennis

In the game, players take opposite sides on a tennis court. They have to volley a football from side to side within the court. Players can't use their hands. They have to use their head, bodies and feet to return the ball. They can touch the ball three times before they have to hit it back. It can bounce once. Players try to land the ball somewhere so that their opponent can't return it. The serve is very important, so players have to serve well.

Anyone can play the game, but really good players usually know how to play tennis and volleyball. Each team has two players. The winning team has to get 15 points and it has to be two points in front of the other team. The service has to change every five points.

The game is very popular in the USA. There is a tournament series that is sponsored by companies. The question now is, when can we watch it on TV?

In England football is usually played in the autumn and tennis is usually played in the spring. In the USA, Anthony Maher is creating a sport that combines the two. King of the Court (or 'soccer tennis') is a sport that combines football, tennis and volleyball into one sport.

IMPROVING YOUR VOCABULARY 2

Good language learners try different techniques to help them learn words and improve their vocabulary. There are many different techniques and you should choose the ones that work best for you.

- 1 Look at the statements below. Tick the techniques that are true for you.

1 I like seeing words written down. I can't remember a word from just hearing it.

2 I learn words best by listening and repeating them.

3 I like to learn words by translating.

4 I write the word in lots of different sentences to remember it.

5 I like learning words in groups. For example, by topic or function.

6 I like walking around the room while I learn words.

- 2 26 Listen to Andre and Carole describing how they learn vocabulary. Tick the methods they use.

	Andre	Carole
1 putting words into groups
2 making a link to a picture
3 saying words aloud
4 using words in sentences

Now you're going to try two of these techniques.

- 3 Putting words into groups can help you remember more words. How many groups can you make from the words in the box below? Can you add other words to the groups?

Biology climb flat awful Sociology amazing hit house interesting bedsit jump boring Law kick Engineering student hall

- 4 Making a link to a picture can help some learners. Look back at the sports vocabulary on pages 54–55 and try this technique.

- 1 Think of a picture for each word or try to remember where you were when you first learned the word.
- 2 Write the word on a piece of card and put the cards in a bag.
- 3 Pull out a card and try to think of the picture or the place. Can you remember the meaning?

My goals

Try a technique from activity 2 this week. Tell a classmate the technique you're going to use. At the end of the week:

- 1 Tell your classmate what you liked and didn't like about the technique.
- 2 Ask your classmate to test you on the new words.
- 3 Continue with this technique or try another one – find a technique that works for you.

READING

1 Read the text and match the headings with the paragraphs.

- 1 The people of Madagascar
- 2 What makes Madagascar special?
- 3 Environmental damage in Madagascar
- 4 Where is Madagascar?

2 Read the text again. Choose T (true) or F (false).

- | | |
|---|-------|
| 1 Lots of people go on holiday to Madagascar. | T / F |
| 2 Madagascar is a rich country. | T / F |
| 3 Many plants and animals are unique to Madagascar. | T / F |
| 4 Madagascar's population is causing problems for the island. | T / F |
| 5 The forest damage is worst on the coast. | T / F |
| 6 Some species of lemur are in danger. | T / F |

The changing environment of Madagascar

- A Madagascar is the fourth largest island in the world. It is located in the Indian Ocean off the southeastern coast of Africa. The country is quite poor and most people earn less than $2 a day. However, there is growing interest in the country for tourism, but at the moment very few tourists visit.
- B Madagascar has something special which makes it very interesting for scientists and tourists alike. It has many species of plants and animals that do not exist in other countries. Between 80 and 90 percent of its animals and plants have only ever been found in Madagascar.
- C People have lived in Madagascar for a very long time. Most researchers believe that the first people came to the island over 2000 years ago from Borneo in the South China Sea.

However, since then Arabs and East Africans, and later Malays, Javanese, Indians, Chinese and Europeans have all lived in Madagascar. The population has risen to over 20 million people and this has caused many environmental problems.

- D Nearly fifty percent of Madagascar's forests have disappeared in the last fifty years. It is even higher on the coast. Scientists have estimated that nearly 50 per cent of Madagascar's animal and plant species are dead or will die. Madagascar's most famous animal is the lemur. Unfortunately, at least 17 species of lemur have become extinct since people arrived. Many plants and animals we know little about will be dead before we have a chance to know more about them.

GAP YEAR

A Many students in the UK take a gap year after school and before going to university. In fact about 250 000 do every year. Most of them want to combine travel with making money or doing *voluntary work. But whatever their reasons, students need to think carefully about what they do. There are a number of advantages to taking a gap year.

B First of all, it gives people time to decide what degree they want to do and what job they want to have in the future. It also allows them to learn more about the world, for example, learning different languages, experiencing different cultures and seeing landscapes they have never seen before.

C However, many people argue that travelling for a year is just a long holiday. It is also expensive and it might be better to spend the money on education. Some students also forget how to study during their gap year and find it hard to study again when they return home.

D In conclusion, there are a lot of advantages and disadvantages in taking a gap year. In my opinion, a gap year is a valuable experience, but one whole year is too long.

Voluntary work is work that you do because you want to, not because you have to do it. Volunteers work to make things better and are not paid for what they do.

the middle child big the oldest child come from the youngest child an only child

- I come from a _____ family. I have four brothers and three sisters.
- I _____ a small family. I only have one sister.
- I'm _____. I don't have any brothers or sisters.
- I'm _____ and it's difficult! My brothers and sisters never listen to me!
- I'm _____. Klara is older than me and Richard is younger than me.
- I'm 20 and I'm _____. Tala is 18 and Ahmed is 16.

READING

- 1 Look at the photo. Decide if these statements are T (true) or F (false).

- | | |
|---|-------|
| 1 The child on the left is an only child. | T / F |
| 2 The children are brothers and sisters. | T / F |
| 3 The oldest child is in the middle. | T / F |
| 4 The youngest child is on the right. | T / F |
| 5 The middle child is on the left. | T / F |

- 2 Read the text and match the headings with the paragraphs.

- The unlucky child.
- The importance of birth order.
- Why does this happen?
- A future film star?
- The best position.

A _____

Do you have brothers or sisters or are you an only child? Are you the oldest, the youngest or somewhere in the middle? These are important questions because the position influences your personality and your future success.

B _____

Middle children are often good at making everyone happy. Unfortunately they are not usually rich. Often they are not well-educated and don't have a good job. They get less attention than older children, and less money and time are spent on them. Don't worry about being a middle child though – famous and successful middle children include Bill Gates, JFK and Madonna.

3 Read the text again. Choose T (true) or F (false).

- 1 Middle children are unlikely to have a lot of money. T / F
- 2 Middle children are not good with other people. T / F
- 3 Middle children are never successful. T / F
- 4 Older siblings play a lot with the youngest child. T / F
- 5 The youngest children are often very creative. T / F
- 6 Not many US presidents are oldest children. T / F
- 7 Oldest children don't want to be successful. T / F
- 8 Money and attention are important for a child's future success. T / F
- 9 Big families can be bad for a child's development in poor families. T / F

C _____

The youngest children are often very creative. They are given lots of attention from their older brothers and sisters. So their games and entertainment are often more creative. Many youngest children have successful careers in journalism, sales and the arts. Lots of famous actors and actresses are youngest children.

D _____

The most successful children are only children and first born children. More than half of all Nobel Prize winners and U.S. presidents are first born children. Also more people studying medicine, law and engineering are first born than middle or youngest. While middle children are easy-going, first borns are ambitious and aggressive. They are also often more intelligent and have a higher *IQ than their *siblings.

E _____

So how can we explain these differences? Well, first born and only children have more attention. With regards to only children – there is more money in a small family, so more money is spent on them. The diet of children can also be different because more money is spent on food in smaller families. First borns and only children are spoken to more like an adults and spend more time with adults. As a result, if the family has another child, the oldest becomes like another parent.

*Siblings is a formal word for brothers and sisters. I have three siblings.

*IQ (Intelligence Quotient) is a number based on a test that represents a person's intelligence. She's intelligent; she has an IQ of 115.

4 Read the comments and match them with the correct photograph, A, B or C.

1 Me? I'm a relaxed sort of person. I don't know what I want to be when I'm older. I don't want to be a banker or anything – I'm not interested in money. I like people; I like making them feel good, so I want to work in a team.

2 What do I like? I like playing. I like making things. Last week I made a car out of old boxes and paper. I painted it yellow, red and blue! When I'm older I want to be a painter.

3 What am I interested in? A lot of things. I work hard and I think I'm intelligent too. I like taking care of my younger brothers and sisters – they're good kids! And when I'm older? I know what I want to be. I want to be a doctor!

A A YOUNGEST CHILD

READING STRATEGY 2

In the Reading test, you answer different types of questions. It's important to understand what the different types of questions are and what you need to do for each one.

1 Match the question types to the instructions below.

- | | |
|----------------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 1 yes / no / not given questions | 3 matching headings and paragraphs |
| 2 short answer questions | 4 multiple choice questions |

A Who is more creative? _____

B why birth order is important Paragraph A

C Birth order is important in success. Y / N / NG

d ... children are more successful.
(a) Older (b) Younger

2 35 Listen to two students discussing the different question types. Number the question types in the order they are mentioned.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 yes/no/not given questions <input type="checkbox"/> | 3 matching headings and paragraphs <input type="checkbox"/> |
| 2 short answer questions <input type="checkbox"/> | 4 multiple choice questions <input type="checkbox"/> |

3 35 Listen again and complete the sentences.

- 1 Read the _____ of each paragraph carefully because it has the main idea.
- 2 You should look for the answers in the same _____ as the text.
- 3 Short answer questions usually test _____, so make sure you know what you're looking for.
- 4 When you can't find an answer it probably means it is _____.

4 Read the text and answer the questions below. Use the advice in activity 3 to help you.

The population of the planet is 7 billion and it is forecast to reach 9 billion by 2050. Many people believe there are too many of us on the planet and there are not enough resources (e.g. energy, food, water, etc.).

In different countries around the world, people use resources at different rates. The average American and European person uses more energy, food and water than people in other parts of the world. Scientists say we need the resources of four planets for everyone in the world to live like people in America and Europe.

The problem is that now many developing countries want to have lifestyles like Americans and Europeans. Countries like China and India have a population of over 1 billion people each. These countries have strong economies and they are using more and more resources.

- 1 The size of the population is not a problem. Y / N / NG
- 2 Many countries do not have enough electricity. Y / N / NG
- 3 India and China could cause problems in the future. Y / N / NG

5 Choose a reading text in the Student's Book and try using the advice in activity 3 again.

Exam Tip

Complete the tips using the words in the box.

READING

1 Read the text about the Aral Sea. What is the significance of these numbers?

- 1 7 billion
- 2 400
- 3 1960
- 4 1963 and 1998

2 Which paragraph is mostly about...

- 1 the Aral Sea?
- 2 the amount of water we use?
- 3 the problems caused?
- 4 Lake Chad?

3 Read the text again. Choose T (true) or F (false).

- 1 The average person uses 400 gallons of water per day. T / F
- 2 More than 240 billion bottles of water are sold every year. T / F
- 3 The Aral Sea is in Russia. T / F
- 4 The Aral Sea got smaller because of farming. T / F
- 5 Lots of people lost their jobs as the Aral Sea got smaller. T / F
- 6 Lake Chad is 95% smaller than it was in 1963. T / F

4 Find the words in the text and choose the correct definition.

- 1 demands
 - a the amount of something people want
 - b to say very strongly that you want something
- 2 border
 - a the location of a river
 - b the line that divides one country from another
- 3 volume
 - a the number or amount of something
 - b the sound level
- 4 species
 - a animals and plants that live in a river
 - b a group of animals or plants that are very similar

The Aral Sea

The Aral Sea

- A With 7 billion people using the world's resources, there is a lot of pressure on food and water supplies. We use water for farming, manufacturing, drinking and creating energy. The average family in the USA uses 400 gallons of water every day. People buy 240 billion litres of bottled water every year. This is putting pressure on the world's largest lakes, rivers and seas.
- B The Aral Sea sits on the border between Kazakhstan and Uzbekistan. It was once one of the largest lakes in the world. It started to get smaller from 1960. The Soviet Union started to use the water that went into the Aral Sea for farming. Now there are many smaller lakes that are not connected to the Aral Sea. There is high unemployment in the area which once had many fishermen.
- C Another great lake that is now much smaller is Lake Chad in Africa. According to the United Nations, the lake lost nearly 95 per cent of its volume between 1963 and 1998. Currently it averages just less than two metres in depth. The problem is partly caused by climate change, but has also been caused by *overgrazing, *deforestation and increased demand for water by local people.
- D Many lakes and rivers throughout the world are in danger of drying up because of the demands by people. As rivers and lakes dry, people have less water. It also means that many species of plant and animal life are dying out. People are causing the problem, but people are also suffering from the problem.

*overgrazing = too many farm animals eating the plants from the land

*deforestation = the cutting down of forests

PROBLEM-SOLUTION ESSAY

1 Read the question and underline the key words.

Man is destroying Earth. Describe three ways we can stop this.

2 Read the paragraph. Choose which ways man is destroying the Earth.

- a Eating too much meat.
- b Having too many holidays.
- c Using too much energy.
- d Driving too much.
- e Working too much.

Today, people are destroying the Earth by using resources too quickly and causing pollution. The situation needs to change quickly. We need to do three things to stop this situation. First, we need to reduce the amount of meat people eat. Second, we need to reduce the amount of energy people use. Finally, we need to work less and relax more. In this way, we can help to protect our world.

4 Put the sentences in the correct order.

- 1 Firstly, we need to produce less meat and more crops. Secondly, we need to eat more local and seasonal food. Finally, better farming methods are needed.
- 2 More and more land is becoming poor quality and in danger of becoming a desert.
- 3 Making these changes will help people to protect the land.
- 4 This is happening because humans are farming the land too much. To solve this problem we need to take three steps.

5 Write a paragraph. Use the model in activities 2 and 4 to help you.

PREPARATION FOR A TEST

Preparing well for any test is important. Remember preparation isn't just revising – it's about reducing stress and helping you concentrate and study more effectively.

1 Choose Y (yes) or N (no).

In the final week before a test, I ...

- | | |
|--|-------|
| 1 do exercise every day. | Y / N |
| 2 drink lots of water. | Y / N |
| 3 revise my notes and practise for the test. | Y / N |
| 4 eat bread, rice, pasta or cereal. | Y / N |

2 Match the points in activity 1 to the explanations below. There is more than one explanation for some points.

- | | |
|----------------------------------|--|
| a This helps you to concentrate. | c This will make you feel less stressed. |
| b These give you energy slowly. | d The more you do something, the better your result. |

3 41 Read and complete the text with the words in the box below. Then listen and check.

eat healthy food sleep for 8 hours take breaks try to relax reward yourself be organised and set priorities exercise

Firstly, you need to ¹ _____. Think about what you need to study and when you need to study it. What is the most important thing for you to study? What is not very important? Make a study diary and write what you will study and when.

The next important tip is to get a good night's sleep – you need to ² _____. Then you wake up ready for a day studying. This leads me to my third tip. It's true you need to study most of the day, yes, but ³ _____. No one can study without a break for hours and hours. When you take a break, you can follow some other tips – ⁴ _____, ⁵ _____, or ⁶ _____.

Let's look at those three tips. They're really important. Exercise keeps your body fit and healthy, which will help you study. You should try to relax, so you could phone your family and friends or chat online or even have a little sleep! Next one, eat healthy food. When we're busy, it's easy to eat junk food because it's very quick. But maybe you can eat some fruit or make yourself a quick meal, like a sandwich or some pasta. This will give your body more energy to keep studying. Don't forget to ⁷ _____. For example, if you studied everything in your study diary for that day, then take the evening off. You can meet friends, go to the cinema, go shopping – do something you enjoy doing.

4 Which points in activity 3 do you do at the moment? Which would you like to use?

My goals

Choose two points to use before a test and two points to use to reduce stress. Compare them with your classmate after a test. Did the points help you? If yes, continue using them. If no, choose new ones.

Before a test	Reduce stress

Engineering projects can take years, decades, or even centuries to complete. So what are some of the record holders from around the world? And how long will they be record holders for in this world of bigger, better, faster, longer?

The International Space Station

The International Space Station is the largest spacecraft ever built. Launched in 1998, it took ten years to build. The estimated cost to build the space station is $100 billion dollars. This makes it the most expensive single object in the world.

The Bailong elevator

Back on Earth, there are lots of records for being the tallest or the highest object. One record holder is the Bailong elevator in Zhangjiajie, China. It is the world's highest and heaviest outdoor elevator, travelling to 330m. However, it isn't as high as the highest elevator in the world. The highest elevator is in the Burj Al Khalifa, in Dubai, at over 500 metres.

The Alraj Al Bait Towers

Staying in the Middle East, the Alraj Al Bait towers in Saudi Arabia hold many records, including the world's tallest hotel, the tallest clock tower and the largest clock face. It is also the second tallest building in the world, after the Burj Al Khalifa.

The Jiaozhou Bay Bridge

The world's longest bridge over the sea is the Jiaozhou Bay Bridge in China. It is 26.4 miles long. That's more than the length of a marathon! The bridge is 174 times longer than London Bridge. However, it is much shorter than the world's longest bridge. The Danyang-Kunshan Grand Bridge, in China, is more than 100 miles long and goes over land, rivers and lakes.

COMPARISON ESSAY

1 Read the table about new office buildings. What four points are being compared?

	Building 1	Building 2	Building 3
cost	$300 million	$200 million	$200 million
time to build	eight years	two years	three years distance from the city centre	2 kilometres	25 kilometres	10 kilometres
people in the building	500 people	300 people	250 people

2 Read the essay. Which building does the student recommend?

The table shows three choices for a new building. The left column shows the cost, time to build, distance from the city centre and number of people each building can hold.

Building 1 can house the largest number of people. However, it is the most expensive choice and it also takes the longest time to build. Building 2 and Building 3 cost the same. However, Building 3 is smaller, takes longer to build and houses fewer people.

I think Building 1 is the best choice. It is slower to build than the others and more expensive, but it is the closest to the city centre and can hold more people.

WRITING SKILLS

FOR AND AGAINST

3 Read the essay again. Which paragraphs:

- 1 state the best choice?
- 2 describe the table?
- 3 compare the different choices?

- a to join two things together
 b a journey to a place and back again
 c a journey to see many places or things
 d to give a score for some work
 e not real

- A Computers and smart boards can already be found in many classrooms. Dictionaries are often on a student's mobile phone. Many people already take notes on a tablet or laptop. In the language classroom, people no longer listen to cassettes. When are people going to stop using CDs in class?
- B Students learning Arabic will have a teacher based in the Middle East. They won't be in the classroom together – they will connect on the internet. Schools won't have to go on expensive trips to other countries. They will take virtual tours of some of the most famous Arabian sites. Then they will have a conversation with Arabic students – in Arabic.
- C Students won't take tests with a pen and paper. All tests will be done on a computer. They won't be marked by a teacher. The computer will mark the test. Parents will be able to download electronic copies of everything their child does.
- D In South Korea, the government has said all text books will be available electronically by 2015. Some parts of the world won't take long to catch up. So how long until we will never read a paper book again?

WRITING

THE FUTURE OF EDUCATION

- 1 Tick (✓) the statements you agree with and put a cross (✗) for the ones you don't agree with.

In the future, teachers ...	You	David	Jane
1 won't exist.
2 won't mark student's work.
3 will teach from home.
4 will teach people from many different countries and schools.

- 2  Listen to David and Jane talking about the statements. Complete the table in activity 1.
- 3 Read the question. Who do you think would agree – David or Jane?

In the future, teachers will be replaced by computers. Do you agree or disagree with this statement?

- 4 Read Jane's essay. Does she agree or disagree with the question?

In my opinion, teachers in the future will mainly be replaced by computers. I think we will still have teachers for a few lessons, but most lessons will be online.

We will have more lessons from teachers through the internet, but I don't agree that teachers will be replaced completely. I think expert teachers will teach people all around the world at the same time. I don't believe this will change the way we learn or are tested.

Students will always need contact with a teacher, but maybe not in a traditional classroom. For this reason, I disagree with the statement.

- In my opinion, public libraries won't disappear in the future.

- I think checkout assistants in supermarkets will be replaced by machines.

- I don't think bicycles will replace cars in the future.

- I agree that most people will smoke cigarettes in the future.

- 8 Read the three ways of giving your opinion on an idea. Then read the ideas below and write your opinions.

I think the world will run out of oil.

I don't agree (with that).

I agree (with that).

I'm not sure (about that).

I think:

- public libraries will disappear.

- most people won't work at home.

- people won't smoke cigarettes any more.

- people will stop eating fish.

2 Read the title and predict the content of the text.

What will we do without oil?

3 Read the questions and underline the key words.

- 1 People will not take holidays in other countries so much. Y / N / NG
2 People do not take holidays in their own country today. Y / N / NG
3 Overseas gap years will continue. Y / N / NG
4 People will travel less for everything. Y / N / NG

4 Read the text and answer the questions in activity 3. Do the questions test facts or opinions?

Today, many people want more than one holiday a year, often overseas. Cheap international travel is now very popular and very easy. However, with decreasing oil supplies and the price of fuel increasing, can we continue to go to the same holiday destinations?

It is possible that new technology will allow us to travel using less oil. But until then, we need to think carefully about holiday destinations and explore our own countries. Gap years to foreign countries may not continue as flights increase in price, so young people may take gap years in their own country.

Other things will also change as fuel supplies decrease. Modern communications mean that people don't need to travel to an office for work. Children might have lessons at home, so that they don't need to travel to school. All of this could mean there will be a big change in how people travel and maybe people won't leave their own country – or their own town – in the future.

Lucia: I like going shopping with my friends. I spend lots of time on Facebook.

Examiner: Why do you like doing these things?

Lucia: There are great shops in Bahrain. We have some really good shopping malls. There is everything you want to buy. I love Facebook. I chat there and I never text now.

Examiner: How much time do you spend on these hobbies?

Lucia: I go shopping every Saturday and often two or three nights a week. Facebook, I use all the time. I look at it on my phone, computer, laptop. I can't stop using it!

Examiner: What would you do if you had more free time?

Lucia: I want to go shopping more often, but I don't have enough money. I do have some homework to do, too.

Khalid

Examiner: What do you like doing in your free time?

Khalid: I play football three times a week. I am in the university football team. I like to meet my friends in the shopping mall at the weekends. We often go out for lunch and sometimes go to the cinema.

Examiner: Why do you like doing these things?

Khalid: I love football, it's fun to play, and it's with all my friends. It also helps me keep fit but it doesn't feel like exercise. I also love playing in the university team, we are the best in the country! The malls are great here. I don't buy many things but I like spending time with my friends.

Examiner: How much time do you spend on these hobbies?

Khalid: Football is three times a week. The games are obviously 90 minutes, but training is two hours. I spend most of the weekend in the mall.

Examiner: What would you do if you had more free time?

Khalid: I would like to go horse. I go on a horse.

Li: Yeah. The parties are fun and the snow is beautiful.

Mohammed: What do you do in China for New Year?

Li: It's a lot more colourful. You can see it in a few weeks.

Mohammed: But it's New Year now.

Li: In China, we celebrate it at the start of spring so it's not as cold as here. It changes every year because we have a different calendar, but it's in January or February.

Mohammed: How long does it last?

Li: People do lots of things to prepare, but the main first day is New Year's Eve and it lasts for 16 days.

Mohammed: 16 days!

Li: Yes, but we don't really do anything interesting or exciting every day. New Year's Eve and New Year's Day are the most important and fun days.

Mohammed: What do you do on New Year's Eve?

Li: That's the day of the main meal. Most people eat fish and delicious dumplings. Some people eat cake.

Mohammed: What do you do on New Year's Day?

Li: People usually spend New Year's Day with their family and it is fantastic for children. They get money in red envelopes from their parents.

Mohammed: Excellent! How does it finish?

Li: Two weeks later, we have a lantern festival, but there are also lots of other traditions. There's amazing dancing, like at a carnival, and there are lots of traditional decorations and food.

Receptionist: Good afternoon, International Business College. How can I help?

Caller: Hi, do you have any classes starting next week?

Receptionist: We do. We have one course called 'Introduction to International Business' from 7 till 9 p.m.

Caller: How much does that course cost?

Receptionist: That course is free. It's just an introduction course and a chance to find out more about our other courses.

Caller: What do we do in the class?

Receptionist: You look at some basic differences between international work and local work. You study basic cultural differences and common problems of international work.

Caller: Where does the course take place?

Receptionist: It's in Cambridge and the next one is the 29th May.

Caller: What other courses do you have?

Receptionist: We have a course called 'Working with Europe'.

Caller: How long is that course?

Receptionist: It's a four-week course.

Caller: How much does it cost?

Receptionist: It's £100 per week or £350 for the month.

Caller: What will we study?

Receptionist: In the first week, you study the European Union. In the second week, you look at logistics, in other words, transport. In weeks three and four, you study marketing and language.

Caller: Where does the course take place?

Receptionist: It's in Bury St Edmunds.

Caller: And when does it start?

Receptionist: You can start on the 29th May or the 2nd June.

Caller: Great. Could you send me some more information?

Receptionist: Sure. What's your name?

Caller: It's Mark Peace. That's M-A-R-K P-E-A-C-E.

Receptionist: And where do you live?

Caller: 20, High Street, Newmarket.

Receptionist: What's your email address?

Caller: It's m.a.peace@gmail.com.

Receptionist: Great, thank you. I'll send it through.

Max: Hi guys, how are you?

Theo: Fine.

Zara: Fine.

Max: I hate presentations! Do you, Zara?

Zara: I don't mind them. What about you, Theo?

Theo: This is my first one in English, so I'm a bit worried.

Zara: What's the topic?

Theo: It's about problems facing international students.

Max: Well, I can help with the content. I've got lots of problems!

Zara: I'm confident at talking, so I can give most of the presentation.

Theo: Really?

Zara: Sure. We give lots of presentations in Oman, so I can give the presentation.

Theo: Excellent. Well, I'm good at IT skills. I can do the PowerPoint slides.

Max: When is the presentation?

Zara: On the 20th April.

Max: I'm happy to do most of the research. I can work well alone.

Theo: OK, but we need to do it quite soon. I need to write the slides.

Zara: And I need to learn what I am saying. Let's arrange some dates to meet.

Theo: Shall we meet every Monday at 2 p.m.?

Max: That's good for me.

Zara: And me.

Theo: Great! See you all next week then.

Track 12

Georgios: I can speak English, Greek and French. I want to learn Spanish, but I can't speak it yet. How about you, Omar?

Omar: Well, I can speak English well and, of course, Arabic. I can speak Spanish, but not very well. What about computers?

Georgios: Of course I can use a computer! What about you, Omar?

Omar: Sure, everyone can use a computer. What about driving?

Georgios: I'm not good at it, but I can drive.

Omar: I love driving. I can drive a car and ride a motorbike.

Georgios: There's another thing I can't do – I can't work under pressure. It makes exams really hard for me.

Omar: Really? I love pressure. It makes me work better. I can't work when there isn't pressure.

Georgios: And another thing – I can work in a team, but I prefer to work alone.

Omar: I like exams and essays, but I hate presentations, because we always have to work with other people. I can't do it very well.

Listening

Marek: So how did you do in the listening test?

Joanna: Ok, but I made a simple mistake.

Marek: Really? What did you do?

Joanna: I copied the answers from the question sheet to the answer sheet during the test and not at the end.

Marek: Is that wrong?

Joanna: Well, I made some simple spelling mistakes. And then I didn't read the next questions, so I wasn't prepared for the next section.

Marek: So we should read the questions during the test and we should transfer the answers after the test?

Joanna: Yes. Did you make any simple mistakes?

Marek: Yes, really silly! I circled only one answer and the question needed two.

Joanna: We should read the instructions carefully.

Marek: Yes!

Reading

Joanna: What about the reading section?

Marek: I didn't answer all the questions.

Joanna: Oh no! Why?

Marek: I spent too long on one question.

Joanna: The teacher said when we don't know the answer we should leave it. But I made a silly mistake as well.

Marek: What was that?

Joanna: I wrote four or five words in the gaps. I think the instruction was no more than three words.

Marek: Yes, you shouldn't write more words than you are allowed.

Writing

Joanna: How about the writing?

Marek: My writing is too informal. The teacher said I shouldn't use too many personal pronouns. How about you?

Joanna: Mine wasn't too informal, but my vocabulary wasn't very good.

Marek: Why?

Joanna: The teacher said I shouldn't memorise lots of words without knowing how to use them.

Marek: Yes, that's good advice.

Joanna: She said it was better to use vocabulary correctly.

Speaking

Marek: How about the speaking section? I didn't say enough. I just gave one- or two-word answers.

Joanna: You should always try to give full answers.

Marek: Yes, that's what the teacher said.

Joanna: I spoke about the topic, but I forgot the points on the task card.

Marek: Oh dear. I think I did that, too.

Joanna: The teacher said we should make notes and then use the notes to help organise the talk. Then you include all the points.

- Some of you know me – I was a student here last year. My name's Ali and now I'm studying psychology at the University of Reading, near London in the UK. I'm studying really hard but I am also having a lot of fun. It's difficult studying a degree in English and having lessons with people from all around the world, but I am learning so much. I'm making a lot of friends playing in the university football team.
- Hi. I'm Omar, as many of you know. I'm an undergraduate student studying sociology at the University of Melbourne in Australia. I love living there and I'm making lots of friends. We study together and meet in cafés. Australia is great for sports because it's sunny but not too hot. I'm working weekends at the moment to help improve my English.
- Hi, my name's Naif and I'm an undergraduate student on a three-year course studying Law. My brother is studying a one-year postgraduate course at the same university, so we are living together. I'm hoping to stay and also study a postgraduate course in Law. I go shopping most weekends and walking in the park, because the weather is so good. Oh, I'm also studying in Australia but I'm studying in Sydney.

Ibrahim: Thanks so much for inviting me to Beijing! This has to be one of the best things about being an international student!

Ming: What?

Ibrahim: Travelling all over the world to see your friends. You should come to Dubai next.

Ming: That would be great!

Ibrahim: Wow! What is that?!

Ming: That's what I wanted to show you. It's the national stadium.

Ibrahim: When did they finish it?

Ming: They finished it for the Olympics in 2008.

Ibrahim: The design is fantastic! It's so modern. How did they decide on the design?

Ming: Architects designed models and this was the one the judges liked the best.

Ibrahim: Did it take long to construct?

Ming: They started in 2003 and over 17 000 builders worked on it.

Ibrahim: It looks expensive!

Ming: It was cheaper than they planned. They wanted a roof, but they decided not to build a roof and they saved $200million.

Ibrahim: That's amazing! Can we go inside?

Ming: Sure. I booked a tour.

Karen: What modules are you going to take next semester?

Leandro: I'm not sure yet, but I went to a talk this morning on a really interesting module.

Karen: Really? What was it?

Leandro: It's called 'student enterprise'. Geraldine did it last year.

Karen: Did she enjoy it?

Leandro: Yes, she did. She said it was the best module she did.

Karen: What did she do on the module?

Leandro: She started her own business in a team with other students.

Karen: Really? What did they sell?

Leandro: They sold doughnuts!

Karen: Why did they do that?

Leandro: They had to make a profit selling something. Students always buy junk food!

Karen: And this is a module? I can use it as part of my degree?

Leandro: Yes. You have to write a business plan, organise your team, manage the business and write a report about it.

Karen: It sounds like good fun.

Leandro: It is.

Karen: Did Geraldine tell you that?

Leandro: No, I spoke to one of the people from last year. They were at the talk.

Karen: Did they give you any ideas for the business?

Leandro: No, you can do anything. Do you want to do it together?

Karen: OK, great idea. What shall we do?

Ahmed: It must be so easy for you going to university in your own country.

Bruce: It probably is easier than being in a different country, but some things are hard.

Ahmed: What do you find difficult?

Bruce: Well, at school I had deadlines; I was good at organising time. Well, my teachers and parents helped me. But it's harder at university because I have to manage my own time.

Ahmed: I see. Is it really difficult?

Bruce: Yes, really! Time management is important. There are three things I try to do now. Firstly, I try to set clear times between free-time and independent study.

Ahmed: But they're the same thing, aren't they?

Bruce: No, they aren't. I put independent study into my schedule. It's the same with deadlines.

Ahmed: What do you mean?

Bruce: Well, the teachers give us an essay title three or four weeks before the deadline. I try to manage my time and have a goal for every week. For example, I finish background reading on the essay in the first week. Then I start a draft in the second week.

Ahmed: So you're more responsible now?

Bruce: Yes, exactly. I'm responsible for my learning goals. It's my degree and it's my future.

Alice: I need to get fit! I'm so unhealthy! I feel terrible just walking up the stairs!

Tom: You should get some Kangoo jumps.

Alice: Some what? Kangaroo jumps?

Tom: No, these.

Alice: What are they?

Tom: They are Kangoo jumps.

Alice: They look dangerous. I want to get fit, not break my bones!

Tom: They are actually good for your bones. Running can be bad for your bones on a hard path or road. These help your bones.

Alice: Really? How do you use them?

Tom: You can use them running, jogging, walking or doing an exercise class.

Alice: But I can do those anyway. Why do I need these shoes?

Tom: You don't need them, but they make boring exercise more fun.

Alice: I do hate running and jogging.

Tom: Me too.

Alice: But are they better for you?

Tom: Well, some studies show that your lungs get stronger quicker with these than normal running. You will get fit faster!

Alice: Really?!

Tom: They also help to prevent injuries.

Alice: I always get injured when I start sports.

Tom: That's because you never do any! These will help you get fit and give you less chance of injury.

Alice: I think I'll get some. You have to run with me though. I'll look like an idiot!

Tom: You won't. It's fun!

Track 26

Andre: There are so many words to remember!

Carole: I know! It's really hard. What do you do to remember vocabulary?

Andre: I like to put words into groups.

Carole: What do you mean?

Andre: Well, I write a topic in the middle of a page. For example, 'adjectives to describe places'. Then every time I hear a new word for that topic I add it to the group. It helps me to remember more words. How about you?

Carole: I like to make a link to a picture.

Andre: What do you mean? Do you draw every word?

Carole: No, sometimes I draw something, but often I just remember a picture of something connected to the word.

Andre: That wouldn't help me. But it does help me when I hear a word. I often say words aloud to myself.

Carole: Yes, that's a good idea. I think it's important to write sentences using the word, too. The meaning is only one thing; we have to learn how to use the words in sentences as well.

Track 27

I think the Forbidden City is one of the most important historical buildings in China. It's nearly 600 years old and for 500 years it was the home of different emperors in China. The first emperors from the Ming dynasty lived there in 1420, and over 20 other emperors lived there after that. The last emperor was in 1912 and he left the palace in 1924. Oh, it's in Beijing. It's now an important and popular place for tourists. Sorry, do you know where Beijing is? No? It's in the North of China. It's the capital city. I think it's an important building in China. I like it a lot because it shows the world our history. China is an old country and the emperors were part of this history. It's near my house. It's a short drive.

Juan

I'm from Peru, so the important place is definitely Machu Picchu. It's really old and the tourists love the city. People forgot about it, but then an American explorer visited and then everyone in the world knew about it. The buildings are in the hills in Peru. Many people think they are important. We have lots of tourists visiting.

Nori: I have. I'm going to America!

Halide: Excellent. Have you been before?

Nori: Yes, I went to New York two years ago.

Halide: I was in New York last year. Where are you going this time?

Nori: I've booked a month's holiday in California.

Halide: California! I love California. I went there when I was a child. Where are you going?

Nori: I haven't decided exactly. I haven't read much yet.

Halide: But you must know where you are staying?

Nori: No. I've hired a car, so I can go where I want!

Halide: Oh wow! Such freedom. Have you been on a driving holiday before?

Nori: No, I haven't.

Halide: You'll love it. I went on a driving holiday four years ago when I was a student. I went with friends to Australia. It was wonderful. So have you booked any hotels?

Nori: No, I haven't. I need to find one for LA when I land. After that, I don't mind.

Halide: What do you want to do there?

Nori: I haven't got many plans, but I want to spend a few days skiing.

Halide: Have you skied before?

Nori: No, I haven't. This will be my first time. Have you skied before?

Halide: I have. I went skiing last winter for the first time.

Nori: You've done everything!

Teacher: This is a good essay Luca. Well done! There are some mistakes.

Luca: Could you show me, Miss?

Teacher: Sure. The first problem is that your ideas are good but not very well organised. Try to make every paragraph about just one topic.

Luca: So here, for example, it should be two paragraphs?

Teacher: Exactly. Also, pay attention to your grammar. You use the past simple a lot, but you need the present perfect in this sentence.

Luca: I find the present perfect really hard.

Teacher: It is difficult, but practise with your grammar exercise book.

Luca: Is there anything else?

Teacher: Well, your spelling needs to improve.

Luca: How can I improve my spelling, Miss?

Teacher: Reading is really important because it helps you see the patterns of words. And keep a vocabulary notebook to help you remember the spelling, too.

Luca: OK, great. Thank you, Miss.

Student: Hi, I'm phoning to find out about the activities for the first day.

Receptionist: Sure. Come to the school before 9 o'clock. Come to reception and we'll register you on the course.

Student: And then do classes start?

Receptionist: No, there aren't any classes on the first day. At 9.30, we'll go to the main hall and you'll meet the teachers and the director.

Student: What will we do for the rest of the day?

Receptionist: After you have met the teachers and director, there will be a test at 10.30.

Student: Where will the test be?

Receptionist: In the library.

Student: What will the test be?

Receptionist: It's an English test.

Student: OK, great, thank you. How can I find the main hall?

Receptionist: Go straight down the corridor past the staff room on the left. At the end of the corridor turn left. Go past the toilet and the canteen and at the end of the corridor is the main hall.

Student: Do we get a break after the talk?

Receptionist: You can have a short break. You can go to the canteen or opposite the staff room is a classroom. The classroom is next to the reception.

Student: How can I find the library later?

Receptionist: If you are in the classroom, go to the end of the corridor and turn right. Go past the self-access centre and at the end of the corridor is the library.

Student: Great, thank you.

UNIT 9

Track 34

Twins are not very common throughout the world. Think back to your school and childhood – how many twins did you know? Most of us knew one, maybe two, sets of twins when we were young.

So, an Indian village where there are 220 sets of twins in just 2 000 families is interesting for scientists. Experts visited the remote tropical village of Kodinhi, which is located in Kerala. It had almost six times as many twins as the average number.

More and more twins are born in the village every year. In 2008, 15 pairs of twins were born in the village out of a total of 300 babies. 220 sets of twins are registered in the village. However, not all parents register their children, so we don't know exactly how many twins there are. Some people think there might be 350 sets of twins. In a village of 2 000, that means one third are twins.

Dr Sribiju, a local doctor, thinks it started 60 to 70 years ago. At the moment no one knows why there are so many twins, but Dr Sribiju thinks it is the food and drink that the villagers have.

Asian people often have the lowest number of twins in the world. They usually have just four twins in 1 000 births. It is usually older women that have twins, but the average age of mothers in Kodinhi is 18 to 20 years old. Also, women over 5ft 3in tall are more likely to have twins and the average height in Kodinhi is 5ft.

It is hoped that more research can be done to find out why this is happening in such a small town.

Track 35

- 1 A: I didn't know anything about the topic and I got nervous, and then I found the paragraph matching really difficult.
B: You don't need to know everything about the topic. Don't worry. Try reading the first sentence of each paragraph because it has the main idea. It'll help you understand the paragraph and the text.
- 2 C: How was the test?
D: I didn't answer a lot of the questions.
C: The multiple choice ones?
D: Yes.
C: The questions are in the same order as the text.
D: So?
C: Well, for example, the answer for number three will be between the answers for two and four in the text. You should make a guess anyway – you could be right!
D: Yes, I suppose so.
- 3 E: I read the text first.
F: I read all the questions first.
E: Really? Why do you do that?
F: Short-answer questions usually test details. So it's good to know what you're looking for.
- 4 G: I'm really worried. I couldn't find the answer to three of the questions. I spent a long time trying to find the answers.
H: When you can't find an answer, it probably means it is not given.
G: What does that mean?
H: It means that the information isn't in the text.

UNIT 10

Track 36

The bald eagle is not in danger today. In 1940, the American government banned the hunting of the bald eagle and it has successfully grown in numbers. There are now 10 000 breeding pairs in the wild.

The giant panda has not been so successful. Although some numbers are as high as 3 000, not everyone agrees. The numbers are now around 1 500 in the wild. The pandas have been protected by conserving and protecting the area they live in.

In the 1940s, humpback whale numbers were very low. But after people stopped hunting the animals in 1963, the numbers grew to around 40 000. Although it is still banned all over the world, some countries have started to hunt again.

In certain parts of America, there were no grey wolves in the early part of the 20th century. However, in the 1990s wolves were flown in from Canada and re-introduced. Now there are up to 5 000 in America.

Track 37

At one point, the bald eagle had a population of only 417 breeding pairs due to shooting, changes to its habitat, and damage caused by an insecticide called DDT. Insecticides are used by farmers to kill insects.

The giant panda really suffered as the population of China grew – there are now over 1.3 billion people. People destroyed the area the panda lived in and the food it ate. For these reasons, numbers fell to around 1 500 in the wild.

The humpback whale was hunted like the bald eagle. People wanted its meat. About 80 years ago it was hunted so much that the population fell to less than 2 000.

The grey wolf was also under threat. It has a very large population in some parts of the world today. However, in the USA, hunting destroyed the population completely in the lower states. There were none left in America by the 1930s.

Lucia: So, what animals are endangered in your country?

Tayo: I think the rhino probably is. There aren't many left. What about in your country?

Lucia: There are lots of endangered animals.

Tayo: Which one is the most famous?

Lucia: I guess it's probably the brown bear.

Tayo: Why do you think it's the brown bear?

Lucia: I'm not sure. It's probably because there aren't many and they are really big and dangerous.

Track 40

- 1 So, what animals are endangered in your country?
- 2 Which one is the most famous?
- 3 Why do you think that?

Track 41

Firstly, you need to be organised and set priorities. Think about what you need to study and when you need to study it. What is the most important thing for you to study? What is not very important? Make a study diary and write what you will study and when.

The next important tip is to get a good night's sleep – you need to sleep for eight hours. Then you wake up ready for a day studying. This leads me to my third tip. It's true you need to study most of the day, yes, but take breaks. No one can study without a break for hours and hours. When you take a break, you can follow some other tips – exercise, try to relax, or eat healthy food.

Let's look at those three tips. They're really important. Exercise keeps your body fit and healthy, which will help you study. You should try to relax, so you could phone your family and friends or chat online or even have a little sleep! Next one, eat healthy food. When we're busy, it's easy to eat junk food because it's very quick.

But maybe you can eat some fruit or make yourself a quick meal, like a sandwich or some pasta. This will give your body more energy to keep studying. Don't forget to reward yourself. For example, if you studied everything in your study diary for that day, then take the evening off. You can meet friends, go to the cinema, go shopping – do something you enjoy doing.

Track 43

Interviewer: So what do you think was the most important technological invention of the 1950s?

Interviewee: Well, the thing that really changed everyday life in America was the TV, because everyone started to buy one. It wasn't invented in the 1950s, but TVs became popular then because they were cheap. So, the invention I've chosen is connected to the TV – it's the remote control. It's not really the greatest invention, but it's linked to an important invention that changed daily life.

Interviewer: Which invention do you think was ahead of its time in the 1960s?

Interviewee: Well, this is an interesting one. It's the computer mouse. In many countries you have to get a patent when you invent something new. This means you make money every time someone sells your invention. Douglas Engelbart invented the computer mouse way back in 1963. However, even in the mid-1980s many people did not use a mouse. The mouse only really became widely used in the 1990s. A patent in America only lasts 20 years, so Engelbart didn't make much money from his invention.

Interviewer: So how about the 1970s?

Interviewee: It has to be cell phone or the mobile phone. The first phone was bigger than your hand and nearly as big as your head. Motorola changed the way we live and work with mobile technology.

Interviewer: So did this technology continue in the 1980s?

Interviewee: It did continue, but the main thing for me in the 1980s was Microsoft. Its success made Bill Gates the richest man in the world for many years. It's on so many PCs that it has to be one of the greatest inventions.

Interviewer: Well, moving onto the 1990s – which invention would you choose then?

Interviewee: It has to be the internet. Like so many great things, it is difficult to say that one person in one year invented it. The internet was around in the 1950s, but the internet, as we know it now, became really popular in the 90s. Tim Berners-Lee, a British physicist, built the first website in 1990.

Interviewer: So finally the 2000s?

Interviewee: This is where the mobile phone comes back. Who would have thought that the Motorola mobile of the 1970s would become the iPhone of 2007? Apple was one of the cleverest companies of the decade and became one of the richest.

Track 44

Lujain: Look at my new laptop! What do you think of it?

Juhaina: I like it a lot.

Lujain: Really? Are you sure?

Juhaina: Yes, I really like it.

Lujain: And what about my new red headphones for the laptop?

Juhaina: I love them so much.

Lujain: Good, because I really like them.

Track 45

Candidate A

1 Interviewer: Where are you from?

Candidate A: I'm from Berlin.

2 Interviewer: Have you visited any English-speaking countries?

Candidate A: I haven't been to any English-speaking countries. I'd love to go to Australia, but my family usually take holidays in countries in Asia, like Cambodia, Thailand and Malaysia. It means I have to use my English a lot though, as we go abroad every year.

3 Interviewer: Why are you learning English?

Candidate A: For my studies.

Candidate B

1 Interviewer: Where are you from?

Candidate B: I'm from Cologne. It's a large city in the west of Germany close to the Dutch and Belgian borders. It's not the most famous city in Germany, but lots of people know it for its carnival and markets.

2 Interviewer: Have you visited any English-speaking countries?

Candidate B: Yes, America.

3 Interviewer: Why are you learning English?

Candidate B: I'm going to university in the UK next year, so I need to improve my English. I also think it will help me to get a job in the future. And anyway it's helpful in life in general. So many people communicate in English.

Track 46

I want to be a doctor when I finish university. I think it is good to have a job that helps people. I want to help people. You need to be intelligent and caring to be a doctor. I am intelligent and caring. Yes, I want to be a doctor.

Receptionist: Hello, Top Gym. How can I help?

Louise: Hi, I'd like to join the gym, please.

Receptionist: Certainly. I'll take some details and then I'll send you the membership form. Could you tell me your family name?

Louise: Sure, my family name is Johnson and my first names are Louise Caroline.

Receptionist: And your address please?

Louise: It's Flat 4, 96 Greenfield Avenue.

Receptionist: Sorry, what was that?

Louise: Greenfield. G-R-E-E-N-F-I-E-L-D.

Receptionist: Great, thank you. And could you tell me the postcode please?

Louise: It's P54 2QR.

Receptionist: Could I also take your phone number?

Louise: It's 01284 471147, and my mobile number is 07889 64758.

Receptionist: Thank you. Just two more things. Could I ask for your date of birth?

Louise: Yes, it's the 25th of June 1989.

Receptionist: And when would you like to start your membership?

Louise: Could I start this month?

Receptionist: Of course. What date would you like to start?

Louise: Could I start on the 21st?

Receptionist: Certainly. I'll get the form in the post to you.

UNIT 12

Track 48

Interviewer: Many people think of a gap year as a long holiday, but a lot of people on gap years choose to make money for charity or to work. I'm joined by three people who are going to have very busy gap years. So, Raouf, what are you going to do for your gap year?

Raouf: I'm going to cycle from Mexico City to the south of Chile.

Interviewer: Wow! That's going to be tough. How long are you going for?

Raouf: We're going to go for a year. It's going to be hard. We're going to cycle 8500km in total.

Interviewer: How many kilometres are you going to cycle every day?

Raouf: We have to cycle 25 every day, but we are going to cycle more some days.

Interviewer: You're going to need a break!

Raouf: That's true, but it's going to be really exciting. It's going to be an adventure of a lifetime!

Interviewer: Nowhere quite so exotic for you, Sergy!

Sergy: No, I'm going to work for a year.

Interviewer: What are you going to do?

Sergy: I'm going to work in a bank. I'm going to save money to pay for university.

Interviewer: What are you going to do in the bank?

Sergy: Nothing very interesting. I'm going to have an office job. I hope it's going to be useful in the future.

Interviewer: How?

Sergy: Well, so many people graduate with degrees. I hope it's going to make me look different. I'm going to have qualifications and experience.

Interviewer: Now back to the exotic! Kilimanjaro for you, Ana.

Ana: Yes. We're going to climb Kilimanjaro for charity.

Interviewer: How high are you going to climb?

Ana: It's nearly 6000 metres.

Interviewer: That's not going to take a year!

Ana: No, I'm also going to work in a nature reserve. It's going to be amazing working with the animals.

Track 49

1 We're going to be late.

2 We're going to have a great time.

3 They're going out tonight.

4 She's going away.

5 I'm going to leave now.

6 They're going on holiday.

Track 50

Nicola: What do you think the classroom will be like in the future?

Joanna: It's hard to say, but there probably won't be a classroom in the future.

Nicola: Really?! Why do you think that? We'll always need a teacher, won't we?

Joanna: Maybe. Let me think. Well, perhaps they won't be in the classroom.

Track 51

David: So, what do you think? Will teachers exist?

Jane: Of course they will!

David: I don't know. We already have lectures online sometimes.

Jane: Yes, by teachers.

David: But once the lectures are recorded, teachers aren't needed.

Jane: Who will mark the work?

David: Maybe computers will.

Jane: I don't think computers will mark essays. They won't be that intelligent.

David: Teachers use computers all the time anyway. So, do you think they will teach from home?

Jane: No, they won't. We'll still go to lessons. I know you don't like lessons, but you will have to go!

David: You're probably right. Will they teach people in other countries?

Jane: Yes, I think they will sometimes.

David: Me too.

Sample answer
Many students want to take a gap year. First of all, it gives students the chance to experience different things. For example, students can get valuable experience of work or travel to another country and learn about another culture. They can learn another language too. However, many people argue it is a long holiday and it isn't important in developing skills for future life. In my opinion, a gap year is an important experience for a student.

Many students in the UK take a gap year after school. They want to see other countries before going to university. They can see the world and experience a new culture. For many it is the best year of their life. It doesn't have to be a long holiday – many people work. There is the argument that people should work to pay for university.

Sample answer
 The cost of raising a child was nearly £60 000 more in 2009 than 2003. Childcare costs the most at nearly £55 000. Holidays cost more than babysitting, but this is almost the same as hobbies and toys. Clothing is nearly twice the cost of leisure and recreation. Personal expenses are the least expensive thing at just over £1 000.

Sample answer

The seas are becoming polluted around the world. This is happening because people are throwing too much rubbish into the sea. To solve this problem we need to take three steps. Firstly, we need to produce less rubbish. Secondly, we need to find ways to deal with rubbish. Finally, we need solutions to clean our seas. In this way, we can help the seas around the world.

Sample answer

In my opinion, teachers in the future will not be replaced by computers. I think teachers give important help to students and computers cannot always help students.

We will use computers more in education, but I don't agree that teachers will be replaced by computers. I think students need to talk to teachers and ask questions. Teachers can answer the questions and check students understand. They can support students. Students also need teachers to make learning interesting. A computer cannot encourage students. For this reason, I do not believe teachers will be replaced by computers.

Bridge to IELTS

Pre-intermediate–Intermediate Band 3.5 to 4.5

Workbook

The Bridge to IELTS course is specially designed for students planning to take an IELTS preparatory course. The course focuses on the General and Academic modules and bridges the gap between general English and the IELTS test. The Bridge to IELTS Workbook helps students:

- consolidate grammar, vocabulary and pronunciation
- develop reading, writing and listening skills
- improve speaking skills with the Bridge to IELTS feature
- extend exam training with the Exam skills feature
- become more effective learners with the Study skills feature
- extend knowledge of the topics covered in the Student's Book

By successfully completing Bridge to IELTS students will be able to move confidently into an IELTS preparation course such as Achieve IELTS or IELTS Express.
